Dear [redacted]:

I have enclosed six copies of a photograph taken during the visit by the Navajo Police Committee and yourself to our Headquarters on June 8, 1982. Please forward one copy each of this photograph to [redacted], [redacted], and [redacted].

I am also enclosing a xerox copy of this photograph which I would appreciate you showing on this copy exactly who each of these five individuals representing the Navajo Police Committee were, so when we meet again I will be able to refresh my memory. I apologize for not being able to place a name with a face in this regard.

The meeting we had was most beneficial and should be continued in the future.

The FBI is in support of your self-determination, more specifically within the law enforcement field, and it is important that the Navajo Nation obtain law trained tribal judges and the criminal investigators develop more expertise in their overall responsibilities including report writing, presentation of cases to the United States Attorneys and/or Tribal Judges, and testifying in court.

I look forward to continued liaison with you and the Navajo Nation, and we hope that you will continue to contact us whenever assistance is needed.

Sincerely,
